

Catholic voters' presidential preference, issue priorities, and opinion of certain church policies

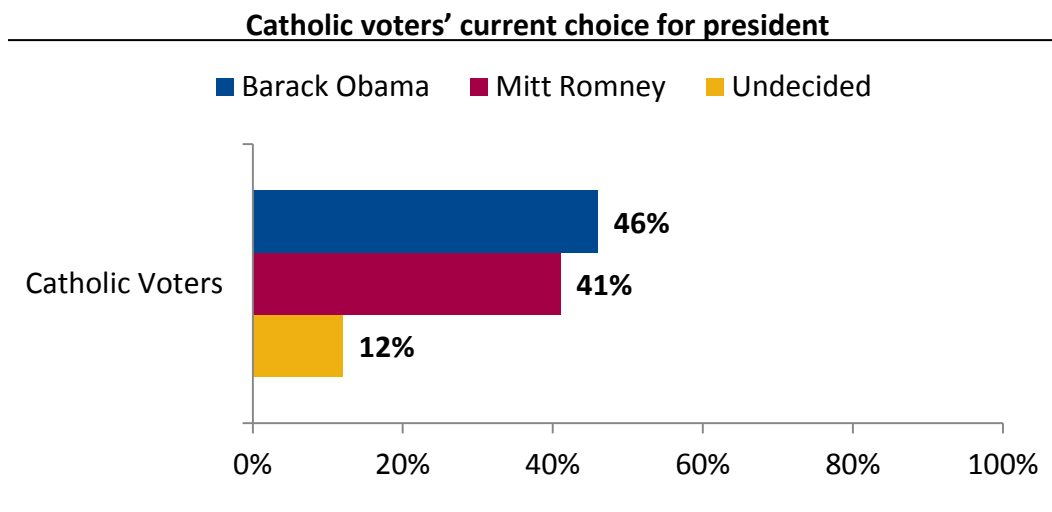

This memo highlights the findings from a national public opinion survey conducted for Catholics for Choice by Belden Russonello Strategists. The survey explored Catholic voters' presidential preference, issue priorities, and opinion of certain church policies.

- In the presidential election, President Barack Obama holds a slim lead over Mitt Romney among U.S. Catholics, as he does in most national polls of general election voters nationwide. The Catholic vote has been a perfect indicator of which presidential candidate would win the most votes in every election since 1972, the year in which exit polls began keeping track of the Catholic vote.
- Catholics place jobs, public education, and health care at the top of their issue agenda and give a low priority to abortion and gay marriage.
- Majorities of Catholics disagree with criminalizing abortion and priests withholding communion from those Catholics who support legal abortion. A large majority does not feel a religious obligation to vote according to the recommendations of the U.S. Catholic Bishops.

Belden Russonello Strategists LLC conducted the survey of 1,000 Catholic likely voters in the 2012 general election. This telephone survey used a national list of registered voters who had voted in either the 2008 or 2010 elections or those who had registered since 2010. Interviews were screened for likelihood of voting and Catholic identification. Interviews were conducted by telephone on September 18-24, 2012. The margin of sampling error for the survey is plus or minus 3.1 percentage points at the 95% level of confidence and is larger for subgroups within the survey.

Findings

1. Among likely Catholic voters, President Obama holds a slight advantage over Republican candidate Mitt Romney in the 2012 presidential election. Forty-six percent of likely Catholic voters support Obama while 41% support Romney and 12% remain undecided.

Q1. If the election for president were held today, would you vote for [ROTATE: President Barack Obama/or/Governor Mitt Romney]? IF OBAMA OR ROMNEY: Would you say you would definitely or probably vote for him? IF UNDECIDED OR DK/REF: Do you lean more toward [ROTATE: Obama or Romney]?

- President Obama has opened large leads among Latino (60% Obama, 23% Romney), low-middle income ($25-50K, 58% Obama, 34% Romney), and young (18-29, 57% Obama, 29% Romney) Catholic voters. Obama also leads with Catholic women (50% Obama, 37% Romney).
- Romney is winning among Catholic voters who are white (47% Romney, 41% Obama), men (45% Romney, 40% Obama), and have incomes over $75,000 (50% Romney, 43% Obama).
- The vote is split among those Catholics who attend mass regularly. Forty-five percent of those who attend church weekly or more support Romney while 42% support Obama.

- 2. Catholic voters and the rest of Americans have the same top priority: jobs. A strong majority of Catholic voters (79%) wants the next President to make jobs his highest priority. Jobs are the most important issue for Catholics of different genders, ages, ethnicities, education, and income levels. The issue even has nearly equal support among Catholics of different political ideologies (80% liberal, 78% moderate, 80% conservative) and parties (80% Democrat, 77% independent, 80% Republican).

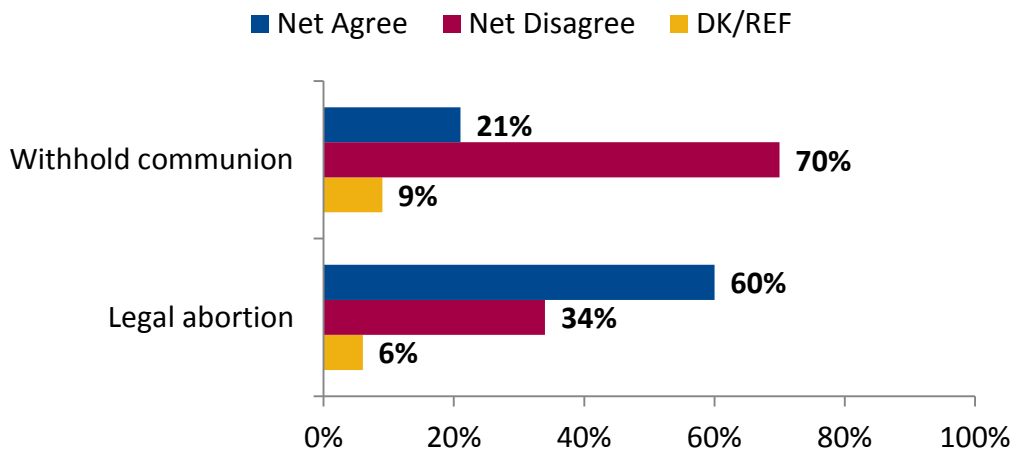

Using a 1 to 7 scale, how high a priority would you personally want the next President to give to each of the following issues? One means the lowest priority and seven means the highest priority {RANDOMIZE LIST} Q6: Jobs; Q10: Public Education; Q7: Terrorism; Q9: Healthcare; Q12: Religious Freedom; Q11: Taxes; Q8: Immigration; Q4: Abortion; Q5: Gay Marriage

- 3. Abortion and gay marriage are low priorities for Catholic voters. Only 28% of Catholic voters believe abortion should be the highest priority of the next administration. Gay marriage is even less of a priority than abortion among Catholics, with only 16% prioritizing the issue as the highest.

4. Majorities of Catholic voters continue to support legal abortion. Sixty percent of Catholic voters support legal abortion and 70% disagree with Catholic bishops who would withhold communion from parishioners who support legal abortion.

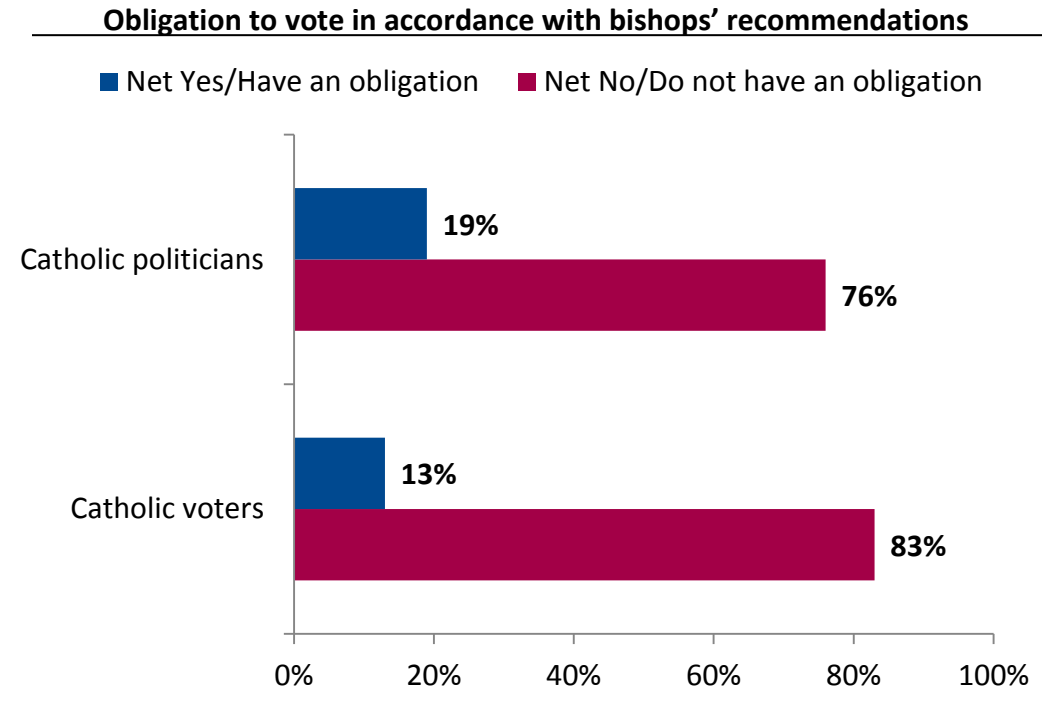

- Majorities of Catholics voters of different genders, ages, ethnicities, education, and income levels support legal abortion.
- Denying communion for Catholics because they support abortion is very unpopular. There is not a single demographic group that would support the practice. It is even very unpopular among the most conservative Catholics voters: 65% of those who attend mass weekly or more, 60% of Republican, 58% of conservative, and 53% of pro-life Catholics disagree with this policy.

Catholic voters' opinion on abortion and withholding of communion

Q13. Do you agree or disagree that it should be legal for a woman to have an abortion? (WAIT FOR RESPONSE) Is that strongly or somewhat? Q14. Some bishops have said they would withhold communion from Catholics who support legal abortion. Do you approve or disapprove of this? Is that strongly or somewhat?

5. Most Catholic voters do not feel bishops’ recommendations should influence their vote or Catholic politicians’ votes once elected. Four out of five Catholic voters (83%) feel no obligation to vote the way bishops’ recommend and three-quarters of Catholic voters (76%) do not believe Catholic politicians are obligated to vote the way bishops desire.

Q2. Do you believe Catholic voters have an obligation to vote only for candidates who are recommended by the Catholic bishops or not? WAIT FOR RESPONSE. Do you feel that way strongly or somewhat? Q3. Do you believe that politicians who are Catholic have an obligation to vote on issues the way Catholic bishops recommend or not? WAIT FOR RESPONSE. Do you feel that way strongly or somewhat?
